2. TEACHING AND POSTGRADUATE SUPERVISION

Overview

Over the past twenty years I have lectured and tutored in a variety of areas at graduate and undergraduate level. Most of my teaching has been in Macroeconomics and Economic Development. I have taught undergraduate Macro at all levels at Oxford, Leicester or Otago (including eleven consecutive years of second year lectures), and postgraduate Macro at Nottingham. I have taught Economic Development to third year undergraduates at Oxford and Nottingham, and to postgraduates at Princeton, Leicester and Otago. At various times, I have also taught Economics of the EU (Nottingham), Quantitative Methods (Oxford), International Trade (Nottingham and Otago), Public Economics (Nottingham) and Industrial Economics (Oxford).

Current Lecture Courses

- Quantitative Political Economy and Development (Fourth Year B.A. / B.Sc. / B.Com. Economics)
- International Trade Theory (M.A. International Studies)

Recent student evaluations of my lectures are available on request.

3. ACADEMIC MANAGEMENT

Otago

2010: Deputy Dean of the Commerce Division. The Commerce Division contains an academic staff of around 120, and has a budget of around $10,000,000. In 2011 I have a sabbatical.

2007-2009: Head of the Department of Economics. The Department of Economics contains an academic staff of around 20, and has a budget of around $2,000,000. The head is responsible for managing all aspects of academic activity in the department.

2004-2007: Departmental Co-ordinator for the B.A. in Philosophy, Politics and Economics. The co-ordinators from the three departments are collectively responsible for oversight of student progress and curriculum development in the PPE degree.

Leicester

2001-2003: Departmental Personnel Officer. This involved co-ordinating biennial staff appraisals, overseeing the departmental mentoring system for probationary lecturers, co-ordinating the annual review of members of the Department and writing advertisements for new posts.

2000-2003: Departmental Staff Development Officer. This involved the identification of individual staff development needs (particularly for new staff), and arranging appropriate development activities. It also involved arranging occasional provision to meet staff development needs of the Department as a whole.

1999-2001: Director of Postgraduate Research in Economics. This involved co-ordinating admissions for research degrees, allocating and overseeing supervisors, conducting 6-monthly progress meetings with students and their supervisors, organising weekly Ph.D. seminars and co-ordinating the provision of research training. It also entailed ex officio membership of the Postgraduate Learning and Teaching Committee in the Economics Department.

1998-2003: Director of the M.Sc. in International Development and Finance (1998-2003). This involved overseeing and managing the quality of teaching for the degree, student progress and curriculum development.

1998-1999: Admissions Officer for the B.A. in Business Economics (1998-1999). This involved running departmental open days for prospective students, co-ordinating admissions policy and recruitment with the University and answering applicants' enquiries.

Major Grant-Funded Research

2002-2003: UN funding (US$100K) to run a research project on the macroeconomics of the CFA Franc Zone. This project ran through under the auspices of the UN’s World Institute for Development Economics Research (WIDER) in Helsinki. Managing the project involved coordinating the research activities of about 12 economists in Australia, Côte d’Ivoire, France, Senegal and the UK.

2003-2004: UK Economic and Social Research Council grant (£40K), jointly with a junior colleague at Leicester, Dr Anja Shortland. The research project was on the macroeconomic consequences of political violence in Israel and Egypt.

2008-2010: UK Economic and Social Research Council grant (£70.5K), jointly Prof. Badi Baltagi, Prof. Panicos Demetriades and Dr Svetalana Adrianaova. The research project is on financial development in Sub-Saharan Africa.
